So you think you know Oakley? The boundaries of our neighborhood may be quirrier than they seem. Take this quiz and see how in-the-know you are about where you live.

For each question, answer one of the following:

-  a. Oakley
-  b. Hyde Park
-  c. Norwood

Where is...

1. Bonefish Grill
2. Hyde Park Fish Market
3. Busken Bakery
4. Bigg's Hyde Park and Hyde Park Kroger
5. Boutique Hope
6. Joseph-Beth
7. Hyde Park Meats
8. Oakley Pub and Grill
9. Sunshine Fine Foods
10. Marburg Square

Answers

1.  a. Oakley. Bonefish, at the corner of Madison and Edwards, is in a shopping center often thought of as being in Hyde Park (perhaps because Hyde Park Center is its name).
2.  a. Oakley. People often assume that when they get off the Smith/Edwards exit, they are automatically in Hyde Park. Not true. They actually land in Oakley (from I-71 South) or Norwood (from I-71 North). Hyde Park Fish Market, located at 3966 Edwards Road in Oakley, falls right in between the two exits.
3.  b. Hyde Park. Located at 2675 Madison Road, Busken is situated just beyond the railroad tracks that serve as the border between Oakley and Hyde Park. Fortunately, residents of Oakley, Hyde Park and Norwood alike are all able to enjoy the delightful aromas that waft out of this hometown bakery.

4.  a. Oakley. Are you noticing a trend? Many stores in Oakley like to capitalize on the name and reputation of our neighbor to the south. Bigg's Hyde Park, Hyde Park Kroger and, in fact, all of the shops in Hyde Park Plaza actually call Oakley home.

5.  a. Oakley. With its vogue name, this hip shop sounds like it could be in Hyde Park Square, but Oakley is proud to call it ours. Located at 3096 Madison Road, Boutique Hope is a great place to go for the latest fashions and one-of-a-kind styles.

6.  c. Norwood. Long overlooked as part of Hyde Park, Rookwood Plaza (where Joseph-Beth is located) falls into Norwood's domain.

Norwood took advantage of the recent building of Rookwood Commons to reinforce its custody of these properties.

7.  b. Hyde Park. Ah-ha! An establishment that knows where it's located. At 3645 Paxton Avenue, Hyde Park Meats is known for its fresh meats and daily soups (their chicken noodle soup nearly cures a winter cold).

8.  a. Oakley. Another business that bears the name of the neighborhood in which it resides. Oakley Pub and Grill is right in Oakley Square at the corner of Isabella and Madison. Their burgers get great reviews from locals.

9.  b. Hyde Park. This small neighborhood market, at 3501 Erie Avenue, lives in the area of Hyde Park known as East Hyde Park.

10.  a. Oakley. Marburg Square is located at the corner of Marburg and Wasson in a section of Oakley that closely borders East Hyde Park. Construction is well underway on this new development which will offer town and row homes surrounding a village center and central green space.

Scoring

Count up how many you got right and see how you scored.

0-3 Just Moved In. You haven't lived in Oakley very long and most likely rent a place. You were drawn to it by the phrase "Hyde Park NR" in the ad. You are liking the neighborhood more and more and love its central location. Proximity is everything.

4-7 Been Around a While. You live in Oakley, but you tell people you live in Hyde Park. The zoning lines are a bit fuzzy to you, but so is everything else on a Friday night after enjoying some drinks in Oakley Square. Wait, or were you in Hyde Park Square?

8-10 Long-timer. You've lived in Oakley much if not all of your life and you're proud to call it home. You frequent Hyde Park Plaza, but you take secret pride in knowing that you're supporting local Oakley businesses when you go there. •••
